Employee Engagement

Bringing people together to talk and share their thoughts is key to workplace engagement. Creating space for discussion and social discovery elevates an organisation from a group of individuals to a well-integrated team; one where colleagues understand each other's mindset and preferences, the particular outlook which informs who they are and how they see the world.

OUR

PERSPECTIVE

ON

ENGAGEMENT

CON

VER

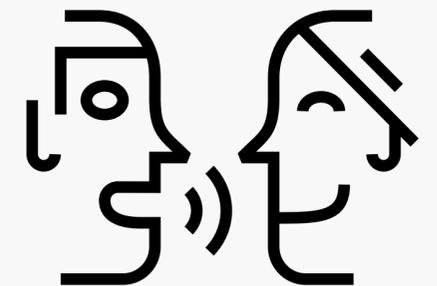

SATIONS

From the after-dinner speeches of Ancient Greece to the salons and coffeehouses of the Enlightenment, some of history's greatest discussions have taken place in casual surroundings.

Whilst present world events have made it harder to gather together in person, that same spirit of open-minded enquiry can still be captured in a virtual setting, and our Conversations have been designed as a leisurely guide across a range of topics – from the personal to the profound. Bringing people together in an atmosphere of thought-provoking exchange and exploration.

Using a combination of short talks and structured discussions, a member of our faculty will lead you through an adventurous session of big ideas and eye-opening perspectives. One which creates space to share ideas, ask questions and reflect on the world around us.

THE SUBJECTS

Whether your team is already well-acquainted and in need of a catch-up or just recently brought together, our Conversations are designed to help you feel better connected in turbulent times.

Our Conversation On The Importance of Culture is a chance to think through the arts and popular media, taking in a range of theories on why art matters.

Our Conversation On Identity And Self-Knowledge is a chance to examine the roots of who we are and what we believe, incorporating key ideas from a number of philosophical traditions.

Our Conversation around On Balancing Work And Life is a chance to talk about the challenges of pursuing a career whilst staying committed to our life outside of work.

HOW IT WORKS

Conversations are hosted on Zoom for groups of up to 100 people. A member of our faculty will lead the conversation, and with the participants being placed into 'breakout rooms' for intimate small-group discussions throughout.
